Tax Compliance Advisor (M/F) - CDI

Our Tax compliance team needs you

Within the tax advisory practice, one of the cornerstones is our tax compliance team.

The team provides Luxembourg tax compliance services to investment funds, multinational enterprises, and family offices. We stand for high quality, responsiveness, accuracy, a self-starting mentality, and short lines of communication. We work very closely with our tax advisory, transfer pricing and tax litigation colleagues. This enables us to deliver tailor-made services. We are actively looking to recruit a Tax Compliance Advisor.

Your responsibilities:

- You will have the responsibility of a portfolio of clients with whom you will be in direct contact. You will prepare CIT/MBT/NWT returns (holding and financing entities, consolidations / fiscal unities / transparent entities / active businesses \);
- You will have full day-to-day responsibility for the management of a tax compliance portfolio. This means obtaining the relevant information, meeting filing deadlines, flagging technical developments (e.g., BEPS, transfer pricing) with an impact on their tax position. Together with your tax advisory colleagues you are our main contact towards these clients;
- You will directly communicate with our tax advisers and partners to analyse how their advice translates into Luxembourg tax compliance;
- We value growth and will fully support your permanent education. This includes courses and updates on technical tax developments.

Your profile:

- You have a master's degree in tax, accountancy and/or economy from a university or a business school, ideally with a specialization in tax/accounting. No need to be admitted to a bar;
- You have ideally gained a first experience in the Luxembourg tax practice. A first experience of 1-3 years is an asset;
- You are a team player with positive energy and a growth mindset;
- You work independently and take ownership and initiatives;
- You have an entrepreneurial and responsible attitude;
- You have great communicative skills;
- You have strong Excel skills;
- You are fluent in English and French. Additional languages skills such as German, and/or Luxembourgish are considered an advantage.

What we offer:

- A kind-hearted, dynamic working environment characterized by short lines of communication and a strong integration between our compliance team and tax advisory team;
- An attractive growth perspective and the ability to develop in the fields of e.g., country-by-country reporting / exchange of information and FATCA;
- Accommodating your personal growth through trainings and technical education;
- The possibility to work remotely up to two days a week (depending on your country of residence);
- A competitive salary combined with an attractive additional benefit package, no open office spaces.
